Administration and Staff

Parent Associations

The Board of Trustees, made up of parents, friends, and alumni of Brownell-Talbot is responsible for the general policies by which the school is guided. Presided over by The Right Reverend Russell T. Rauscher, the Board acts upon all major educational and financial decisions of our school. The Trustees are dedicated and active people without whose genuine interest Brownell-Talbot could not function. Officers: Rt. Rev. Russell T. Rauscher, President; Mr. Mallory Kountze, Executive Vice-President; Mr. Tyler B. Gaines, Vice-President; Mr. C. James Bulla, Secretary-Treasurer.

There are several extremely active organizations at Brownell-Talbot that receive attention hardly equal to their accomplishments. The Friends' Association volunteers its time and effort for many projects, the most important of which are the uniform shop, the dance assemblies, and the annual Family Affair. The Alumni Association, founded in 1889, contributes to the success of many school functions. The Dads' Club is well known for its generous gifts of athletic equipment. All of these groups in their own way give indispensable support to everyday life at Brownell-Talbot.

Glenn A. Ballard, Headmaster

At Brownell-Talbot, we are indeed fortunate to have Mr. Ballard as headmaster. His firm handshake and cheerful smile welcome us to school every morning, and he conveys his enthusiasm for learning throughout the day. In a small independent school, it is essential to have such a capable administrator to direct effectively all school affairs. Moreover, Mr. Ballard is a personally involved counselor for each student. He certainly inspires pride in our school and encourages respect for education.

Three patient and cheerful ladies take care of the many duties in the main office. The receptionist at the front desk is Mrs. Ruth McLaughlin, who also handles all official school records. Her duties encompass such odd tasks as bandaging scraped knees, timing track meets, and sponsoring the girls' golf team. Mrs. Myrna Wohlers is Mr. Ballard's personal secretary. She handles school correspondence, and has the awesome task of accounting for the location of every teacher and student at any given time. Mrs. Shirley Jennings has, in her first year as the school's accountant, gained a reputation for thriftiness. A few of her supplementary duties are sponsorship of the Service League and supervision of the sickroom.

Maintenance

Brownell-Talbot has one of the most attractive campuses of any high school in Omaha. One reason for this is the exceptional work being done by Mr. Arent and his staff to keep the grounds in order. Their major contribution, however, is the day-by-day upkeep of the school buildings. This includes painting, paneling, cleaning, repairing, and being responsible for the many improvements in the school's facilities. The staff is to be commended for the fine work it does.

Kitchen

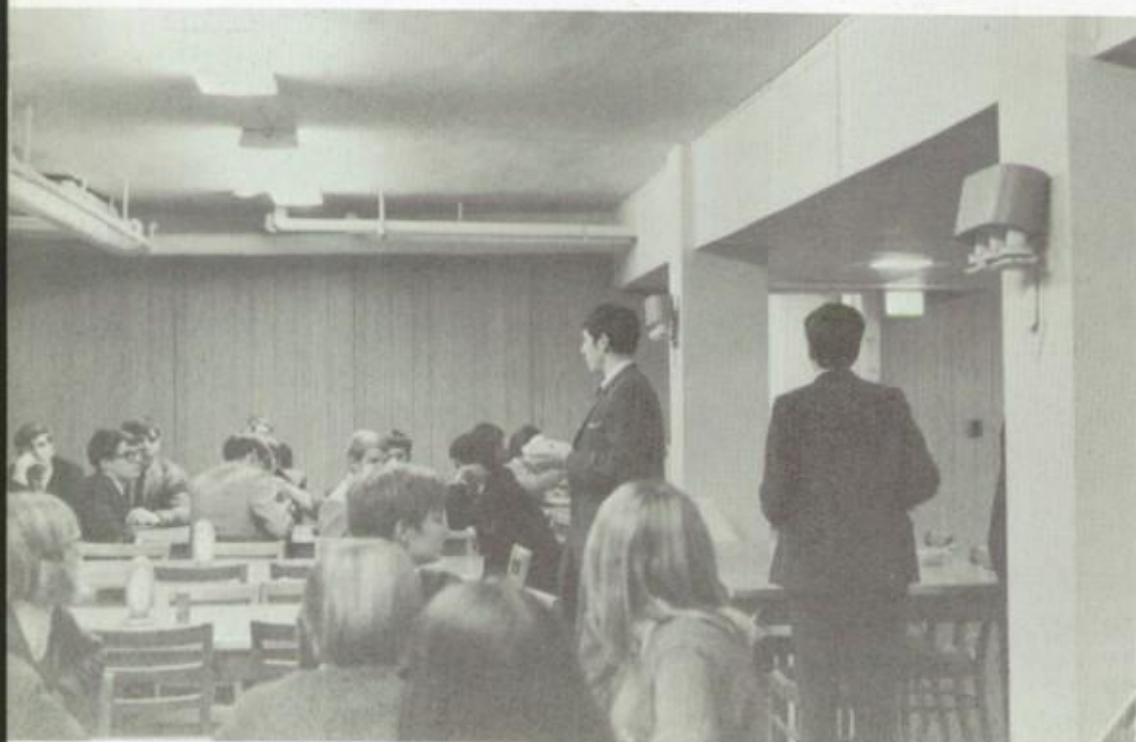

Cooking for over 150 students a day is a demanding job requiring much planning and hard work. It is the task of Brownell-Talbot's kitchen staff to prepare a well-balanced lunch each day for the Lower, Middle, and Upper Schools. Furthermore, they must assume the extra burden of cooking for banquets. Mrs. Clements, Mrs. VanHorn, and Mrs. Ivaskevicius deserve our gratitude for their outstanding efforts to give us flavor and variety in our meals.

Mrs. Ivaskevicius, Mrs. VanHorn, and Mrs. Clements

Student Council

The Student Council of Brownell-Talbot performed several important functions this year. These included planning for activities on special school days and the delegation of money-making projects to the various organizations and classes. In addition, the council sponsored the traditional Christmas dinner. Exchanges were held with Student Councils of other schools. Although the Student Council has little administrative authority, the leadership it provides influences the spirit and conduct of the students.

Mathematics

Providing students with appreciation and understanding of mathematical concepts is the primary purpose of the Mathematics Department. Courses are designed to encourage the ready comprehension of abstract processes of thought. The application of logical methods taught in mathematics courses to other fields illustrates the close relationship among all areas of academic endeavor at Brownell-Talbot. For the first time, Calculus was offered to advanced students. Mr. Ballard, Mr. Dalglish, Mr. Jirka, and Mrs. Nordin all contributed to the further improvement of the department's already high standards.

Jackie Byers

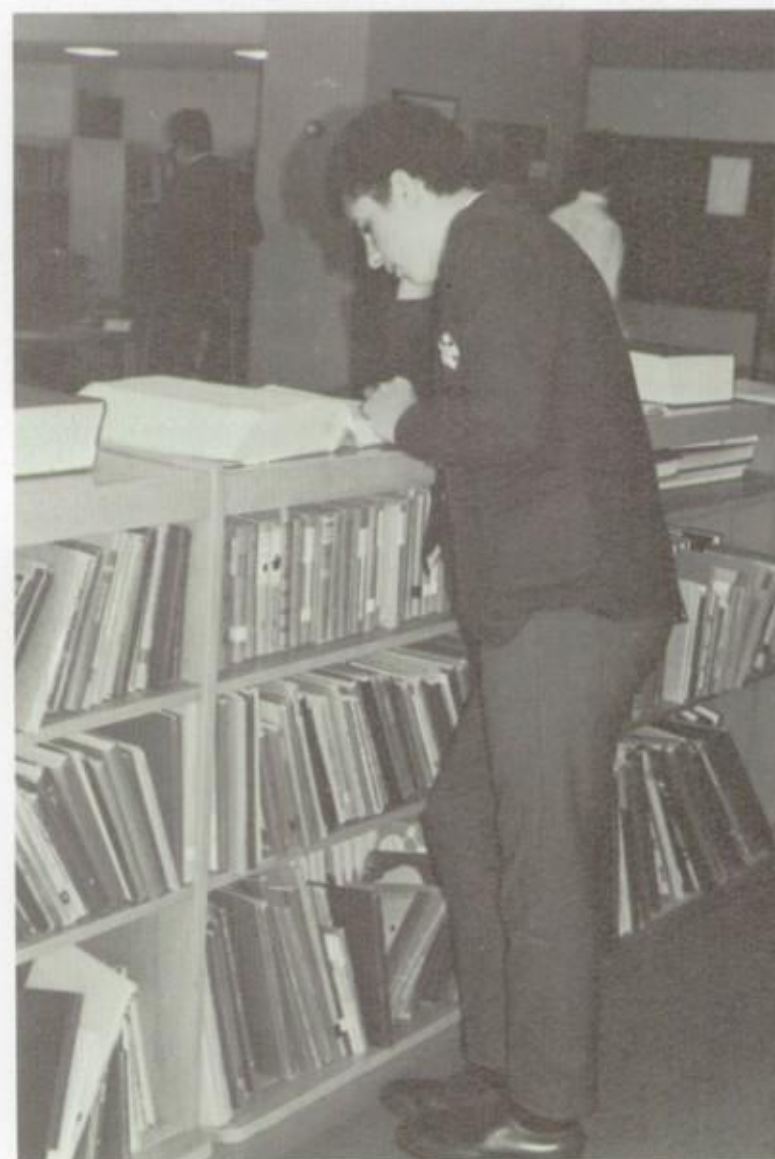

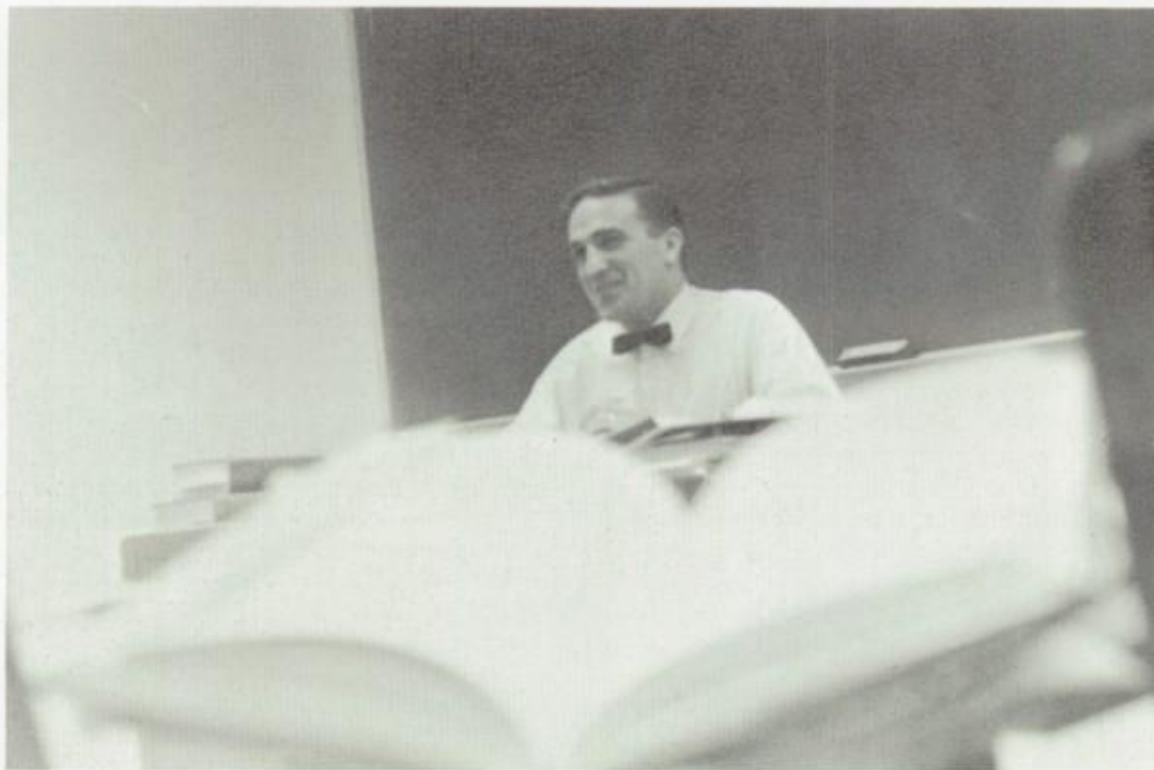

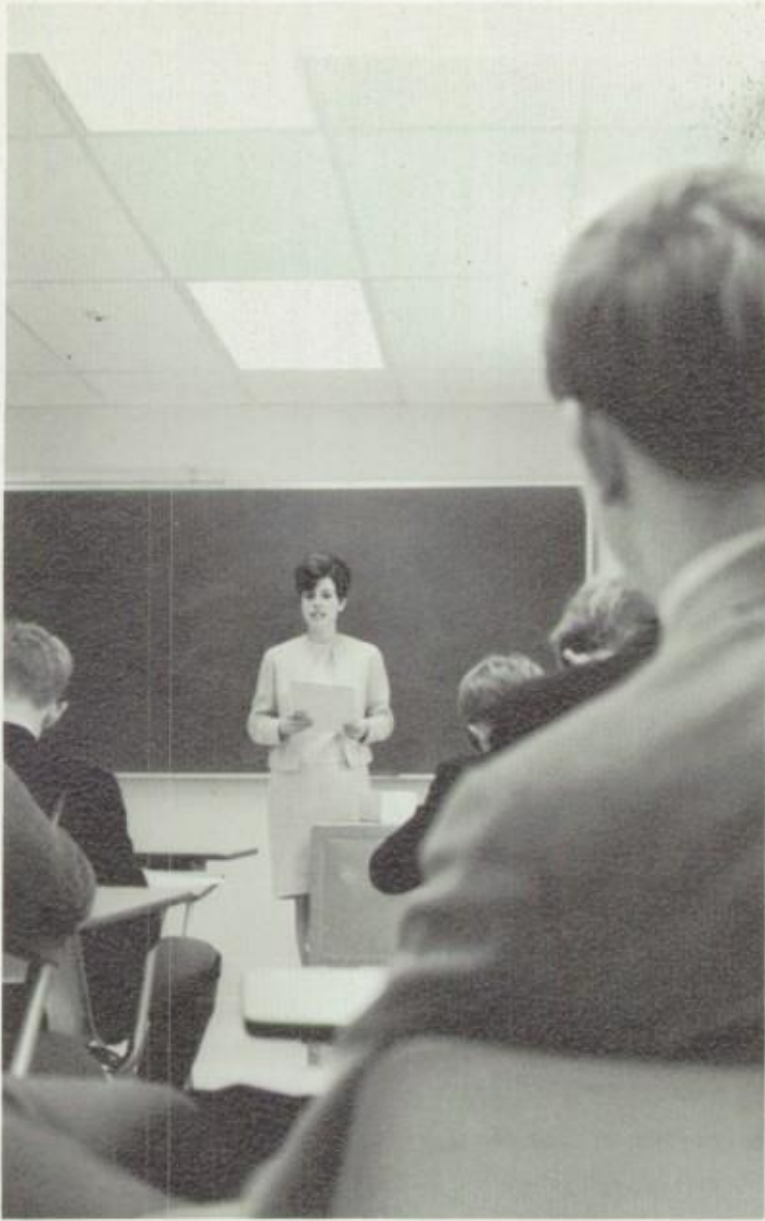

Gerald Giles

English

English is the subject which most thoroughly pervades all areas of study at Brownell-Talbot. The ability to express oneself intelligently and concisely is necessary for honors work in any course. In his second year as head of the English Department, Mr. Giles encouraged students to combine grammatical precision with a lively style. Mrs. Byers, the new freshman and sophomore English teacher, stressed hard work and constant practice to achieve these aims.

Also emphasized in our English classes was the interpretation and appreciation of various literary genre. Detailed analysis of great literature gave students fresh insight into the complexities of prose and poetry.

Phyllis Westpheling

Languages

Cathy Goldstone

Lupe Woster

Yvonne Greenberg

No one can graduate from Brownell-Talbot without proficiency in at least one language. This requirement can be satisfied by three years of French, Latin, or Spanish.

Guatemalan Consul Mr. Amadeo Nazario and Mrs. Yvonne Greenberg taught the Upper School Spanish courses. Spanish students are eagerly looking forward to the six-week trip to Mexico this summer. Mrs. Lupe Woster and Mrs. Cathy Goldstone, both new to the French Department, were successful in making French more interesting and challenging to students. The traditional Latin courses were taught by Mrs. Phyllis Westpheling, and during Latin Week in April, members of her classes dressed as Roman gods.

Amadeo Nazario

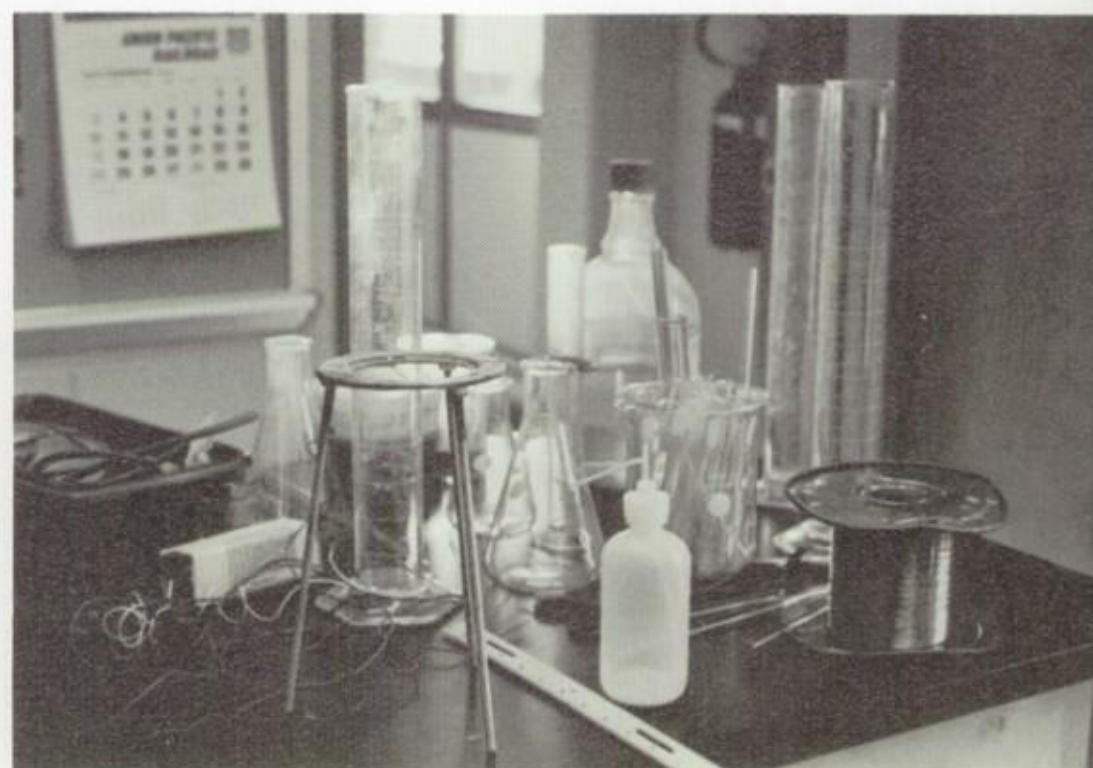

Science

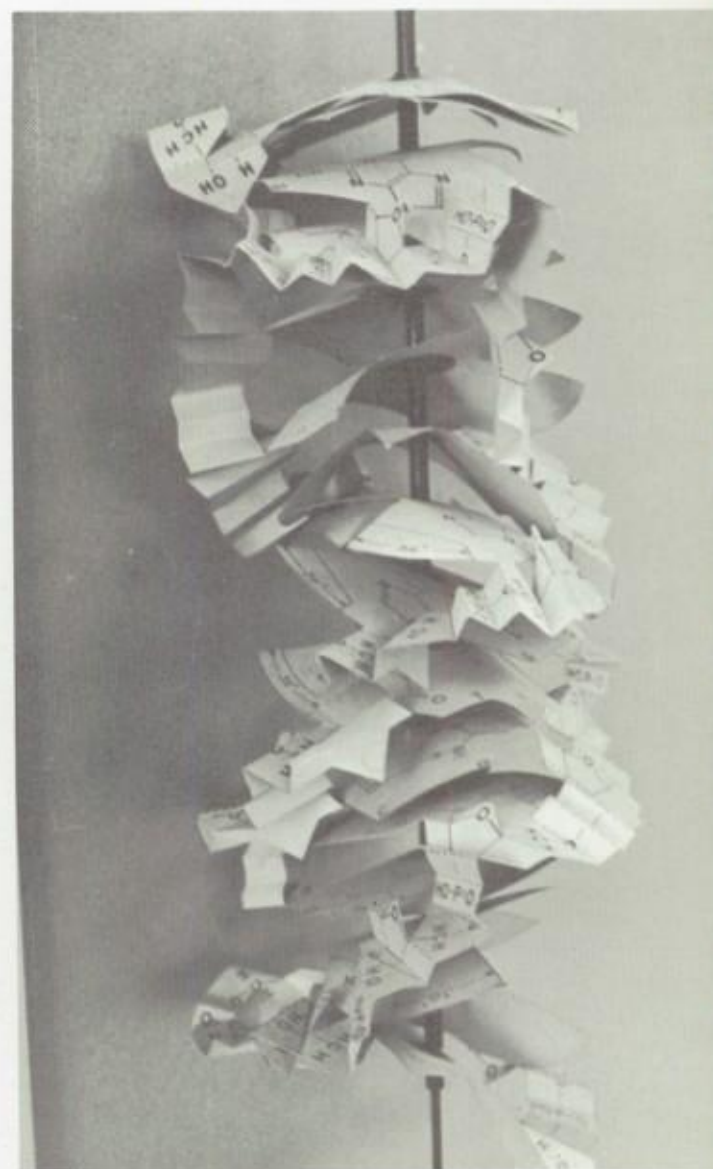

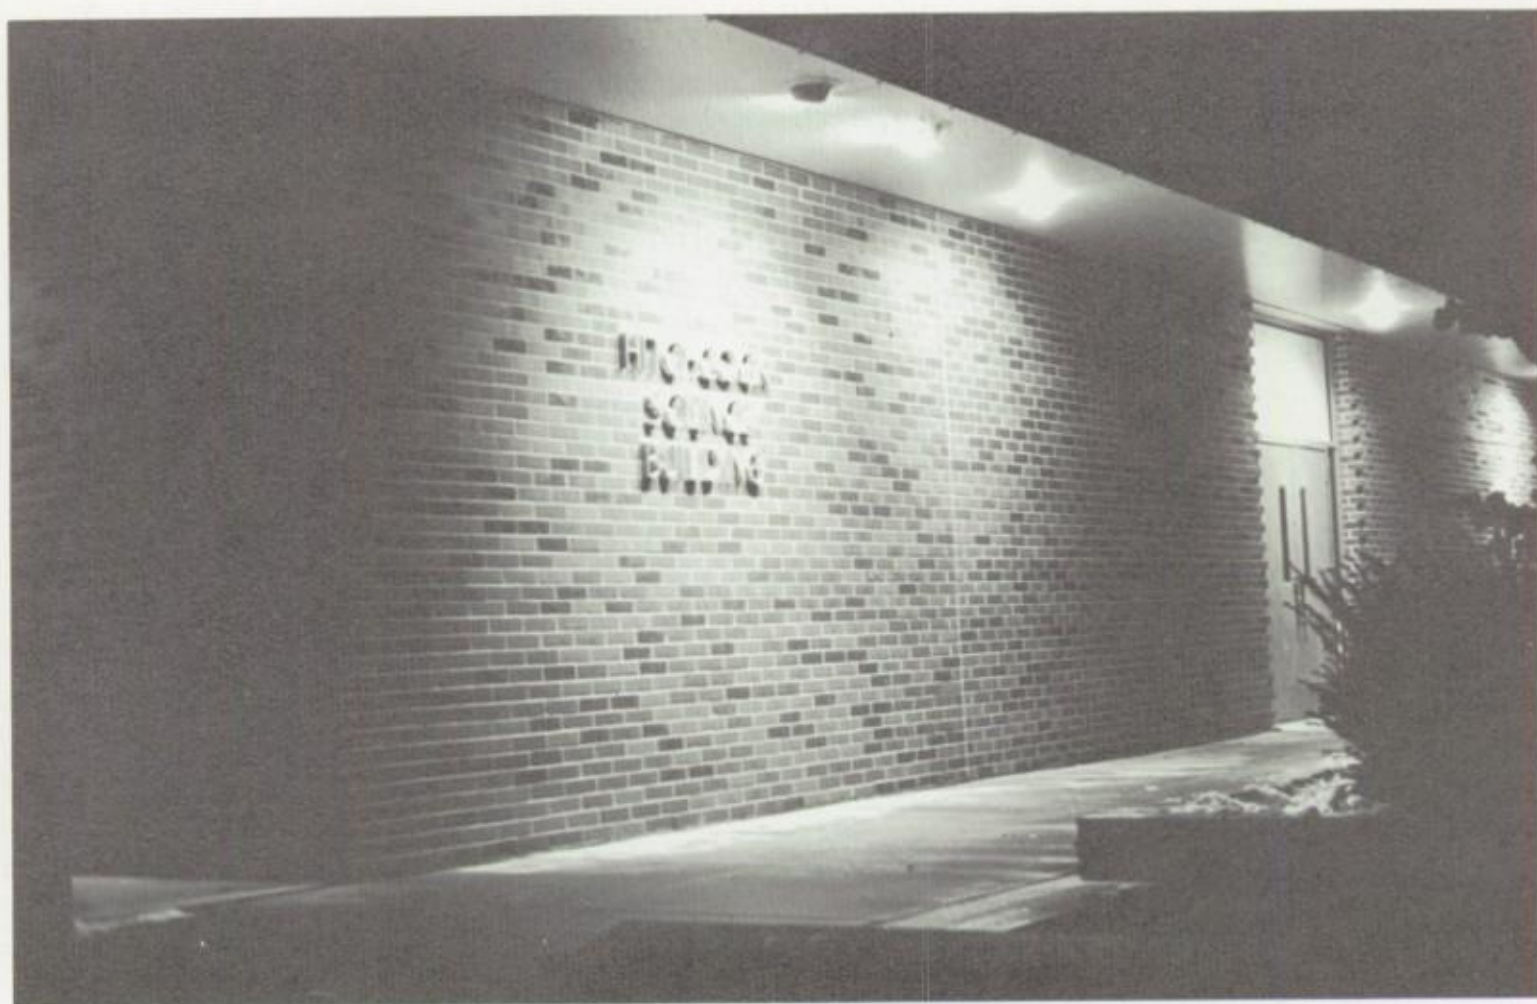

Mr. Fred Curtis

The courses of the Science Department provide a well-balanced combination of scientific theory and practice. This year, science students were confronted with modern laboratory situations and challenged by difficult texts. Mr. Curtis taught all the Upper School science courses. He offered a new Physical Science course with emphasis on the historical development of Physics and Chemistry. Separate Biology hours were provided for the Freshmen and Sophomores. Chemistry, a laboratory-oriented science, was again taught to Juniors and Seniors.

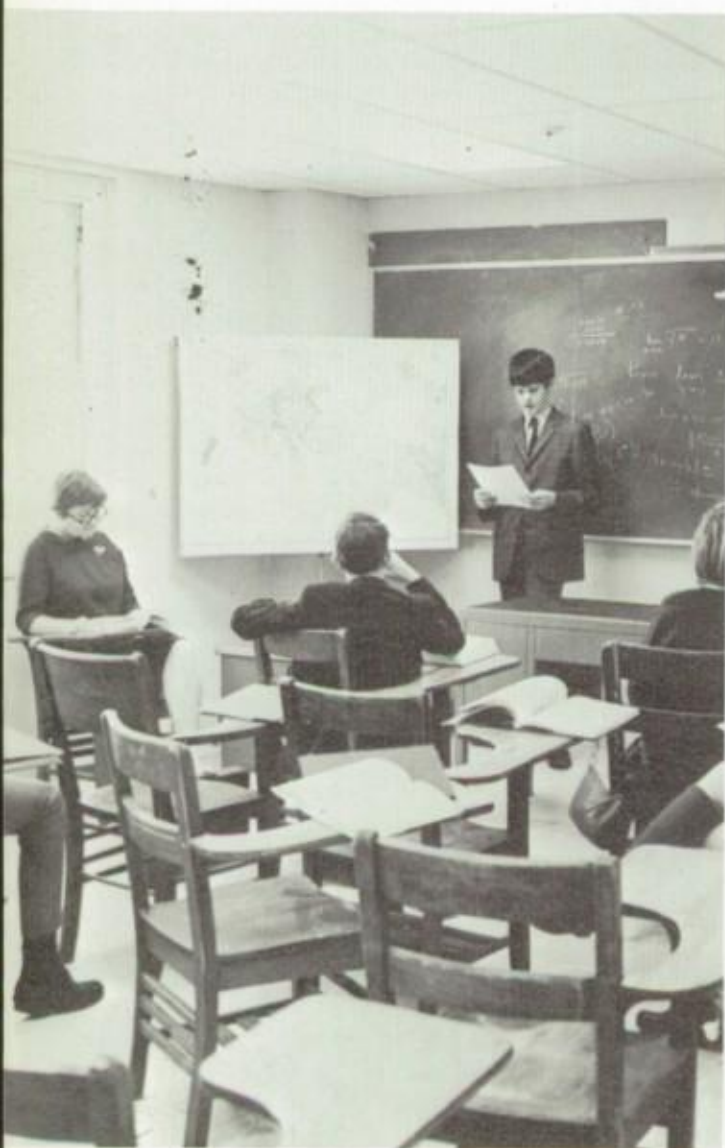

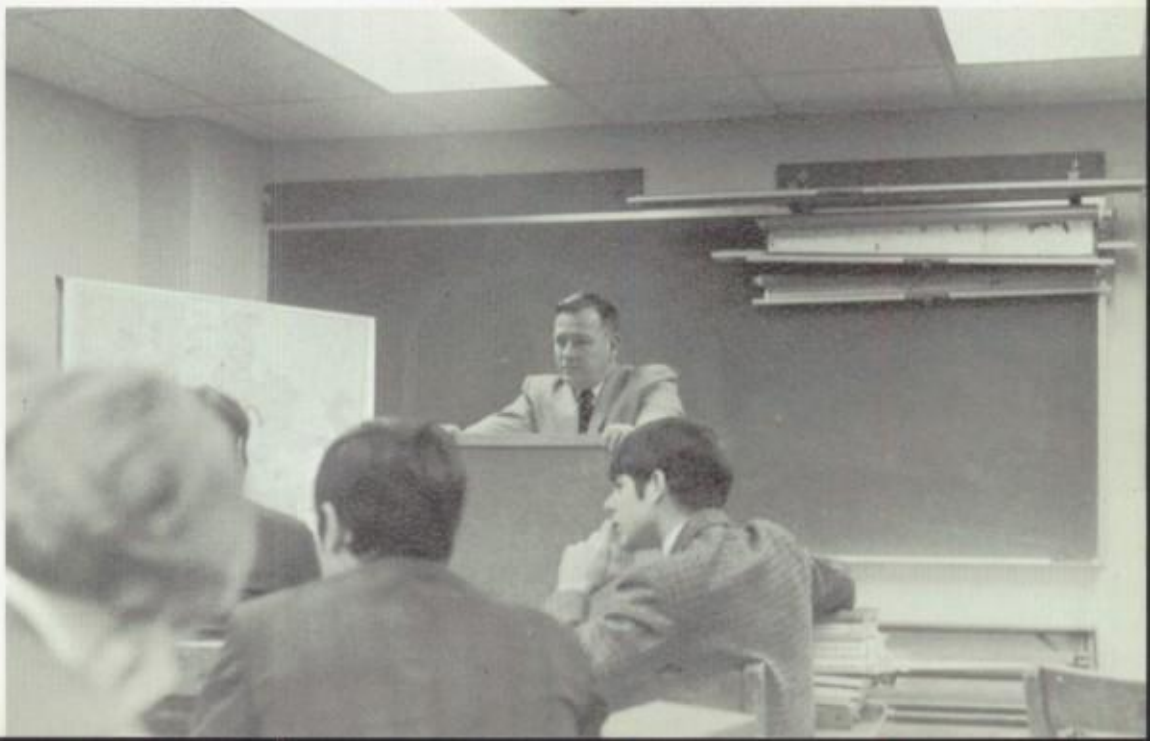

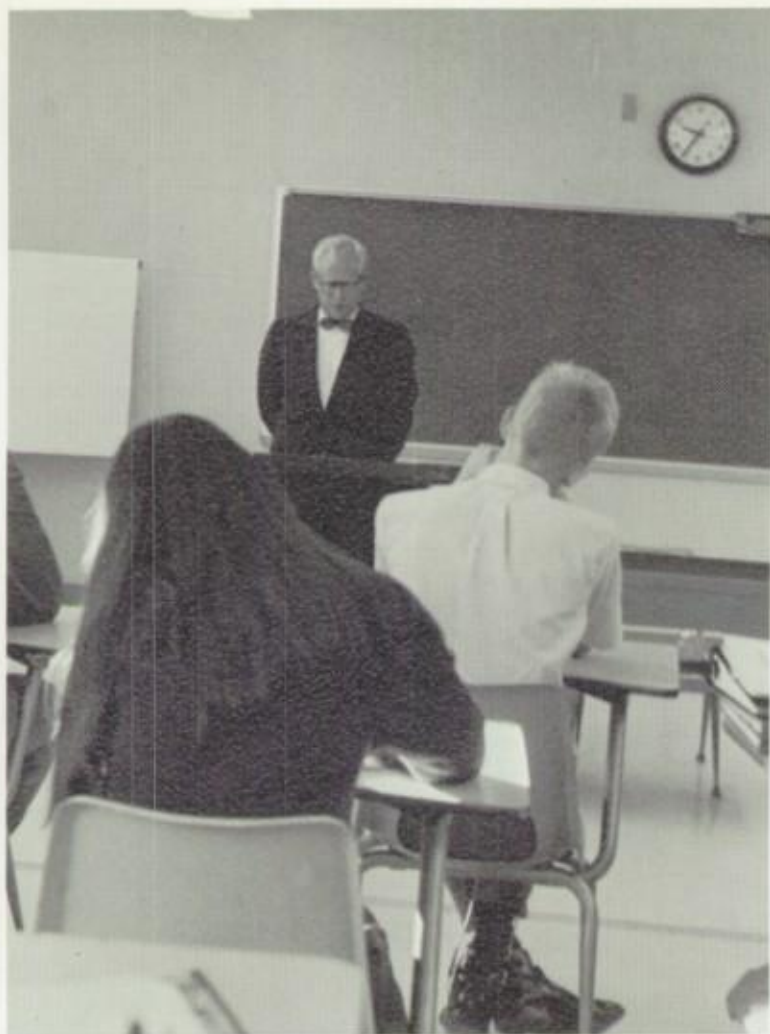

History

Mr. Ralph Bates, Mrs. Helen Adams

The History Department, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Adams, has successfully expanded its activities at Brownell-Talbot. Mrs. Adams taught two new courses: Civilization I for Freshmen and Civilization II for Sophomores. Retired Air Force officer Ralph Bates brought his Government class a fresh approach to political problems. The many additions to the library pertaining to historical subjects have give all students wider access to research materials.

Barbara Davenport

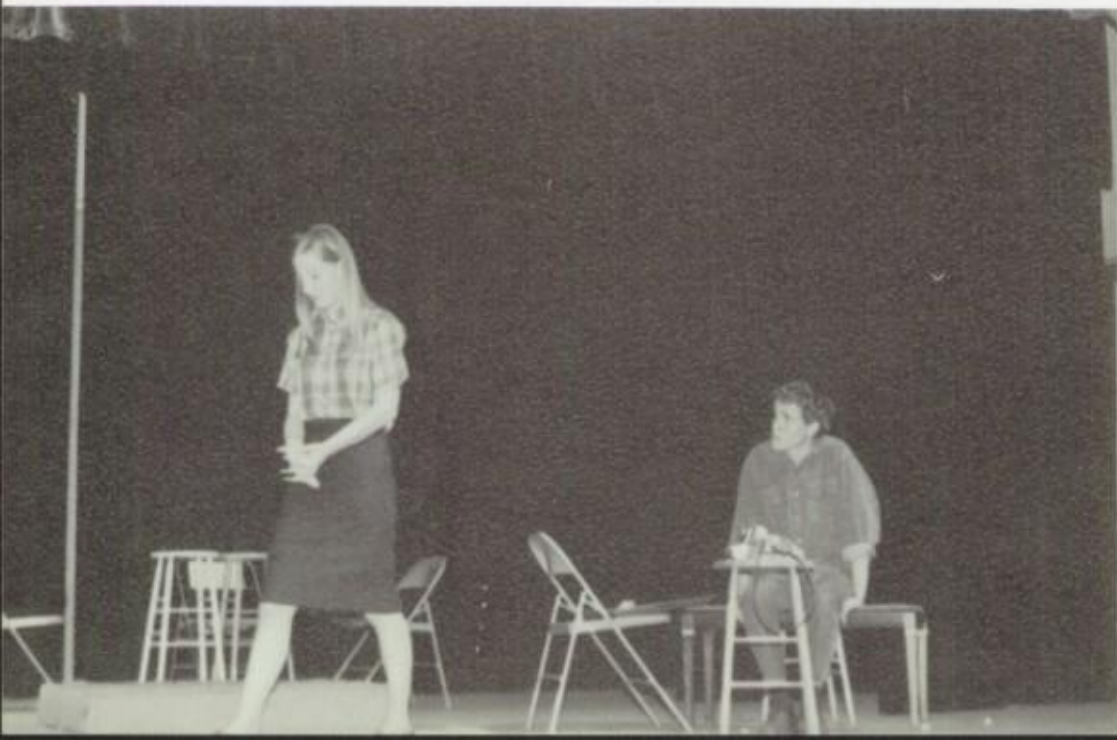

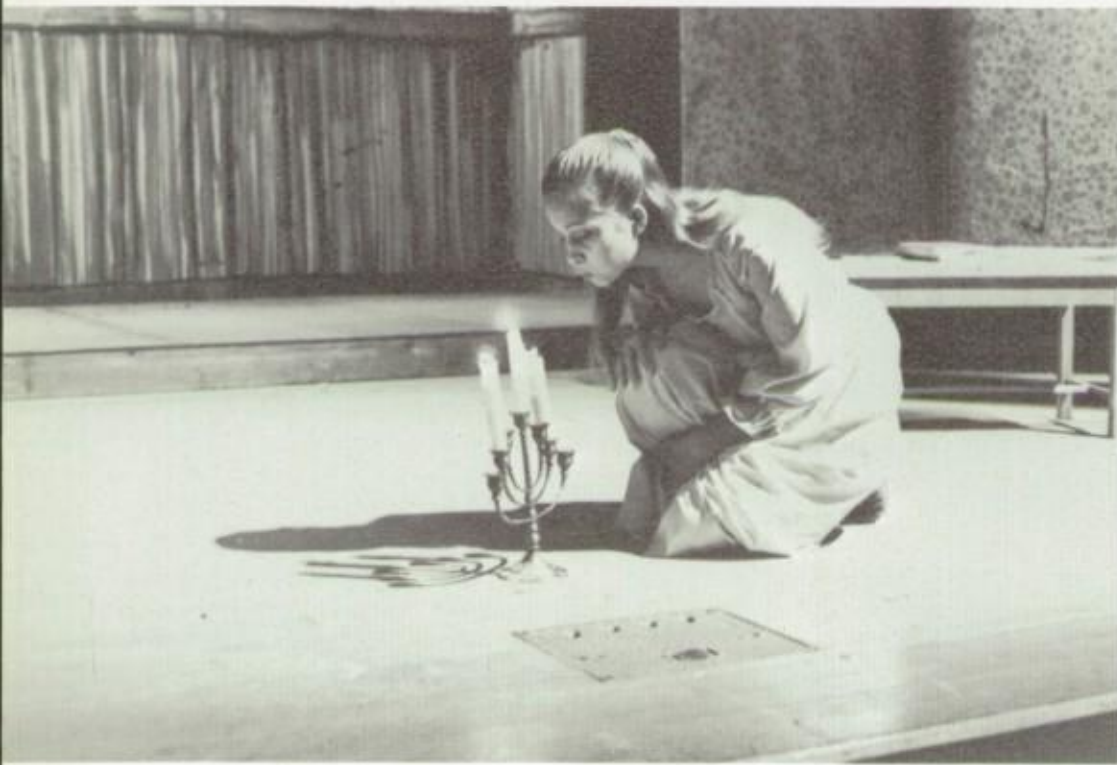

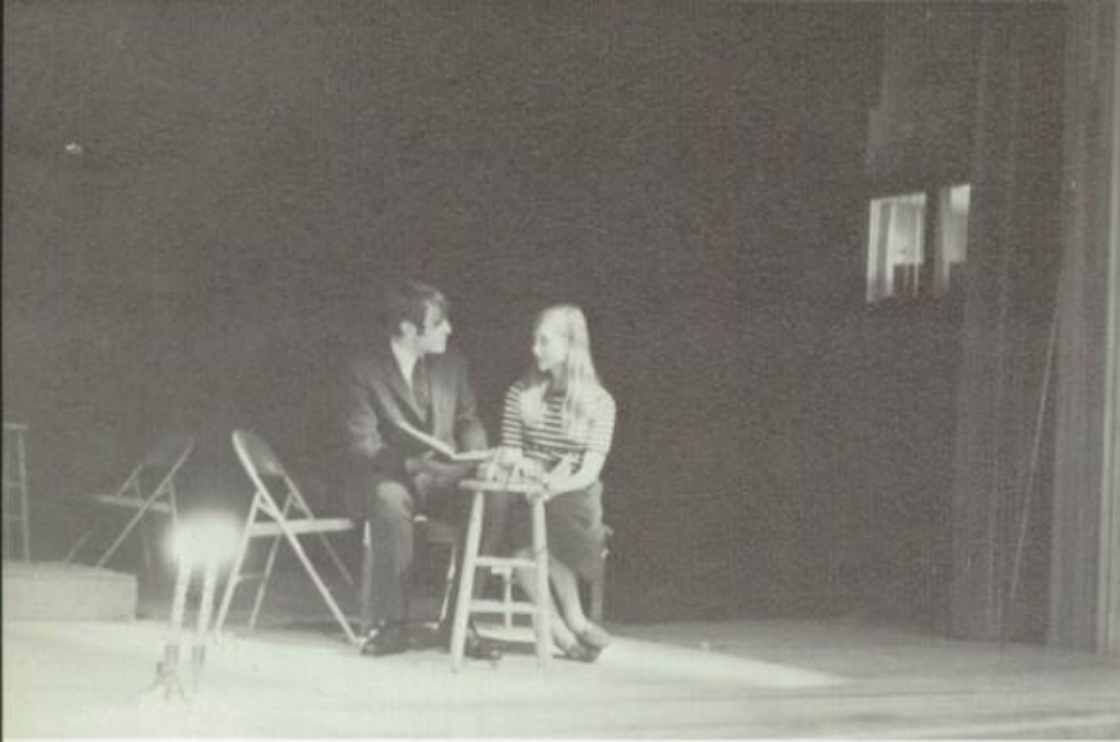

Library

Mrs. Davenport faced a formidable challenge in her first year as the school librarian. All of the 270 students and 36 teachers make use of our library facilities. Because of the new schedule, the library became an even more important study and reference area for students. With the addition of over 400 new books, it was better equipped to meet the ever-increasing needs of Brownell-Talbot students and faculty.

Activities

The Drama Club

The Drama Club is composed of all students officially connected with the school's plays. This year's performances attracted larger audiences than ever before. THE GLASS MENAGERIE and THE SOLID GOLD CADILLAC, our fall and spring productions, were directed by English Department Head Mr. Gerald Giles.

Choir

Expanded choir activities, in conjunction with the regular glee classes, made this the most active musical year in Brownell-Talbot history. Directed by Mrs. Gloria Dunbar and accompanied by Mrs. Mary Levine, the choirs won widespread recognition throughout Omaha. Highlights of the year were the Christmas and Spring programs, and a March field trip to Wichita for a concert. Many fine performances were also given by a folk-singing group headed by Leigh Neligh.

Triangle

This has been a crucial year for the future of the Brownell-Talbot TRIANGLE. The editors and staff engineered several important innovations in an attempt to let the book more accurately reflect the motivating forces behind life at Brownell-Talbot. The most important of these limited the TRIANGLE to Upper School topics and allowed for the formation of a Lower and Middle School yearbook. Another major change, which we hope will set a precedent for future TRIANGLES, transformed the advertisement section into a listing of donors, for artistic and economic reasons.

Those familiar with previous yearbooks will see that this year's photography staff has made a special effort to achieve variety in the angles, light, and focus of pictures. It has been our intention throughout to emphasize the vitally important complex of thoughts and feelings on which rest Brownell-Talbot's existence, and to show how the school contributes to the deepening of each individual's perception of himself and the world about him. We can only hope that the reader will approve of these changes and appreciate the effort which we have invested to implement them.

Publications

The staffs of Brownell-Talbot's literary magazine THE IVY AND THE ASHLAR and its newspaper the CENTURION merged in order to effectively coordinate the two publications. Mary Neligh, the editor of THE IVY AND THE ASHLAR, gathered stories and poems from the students; these were subsequently reviewed by a committee of staff members. The CENTURION, edited by Marisa Ortega, attempted to diversify its articles and features. Both publications drew upon the English background and creative talents of Brownell-Talbot students.

Mary Beth Schmidt

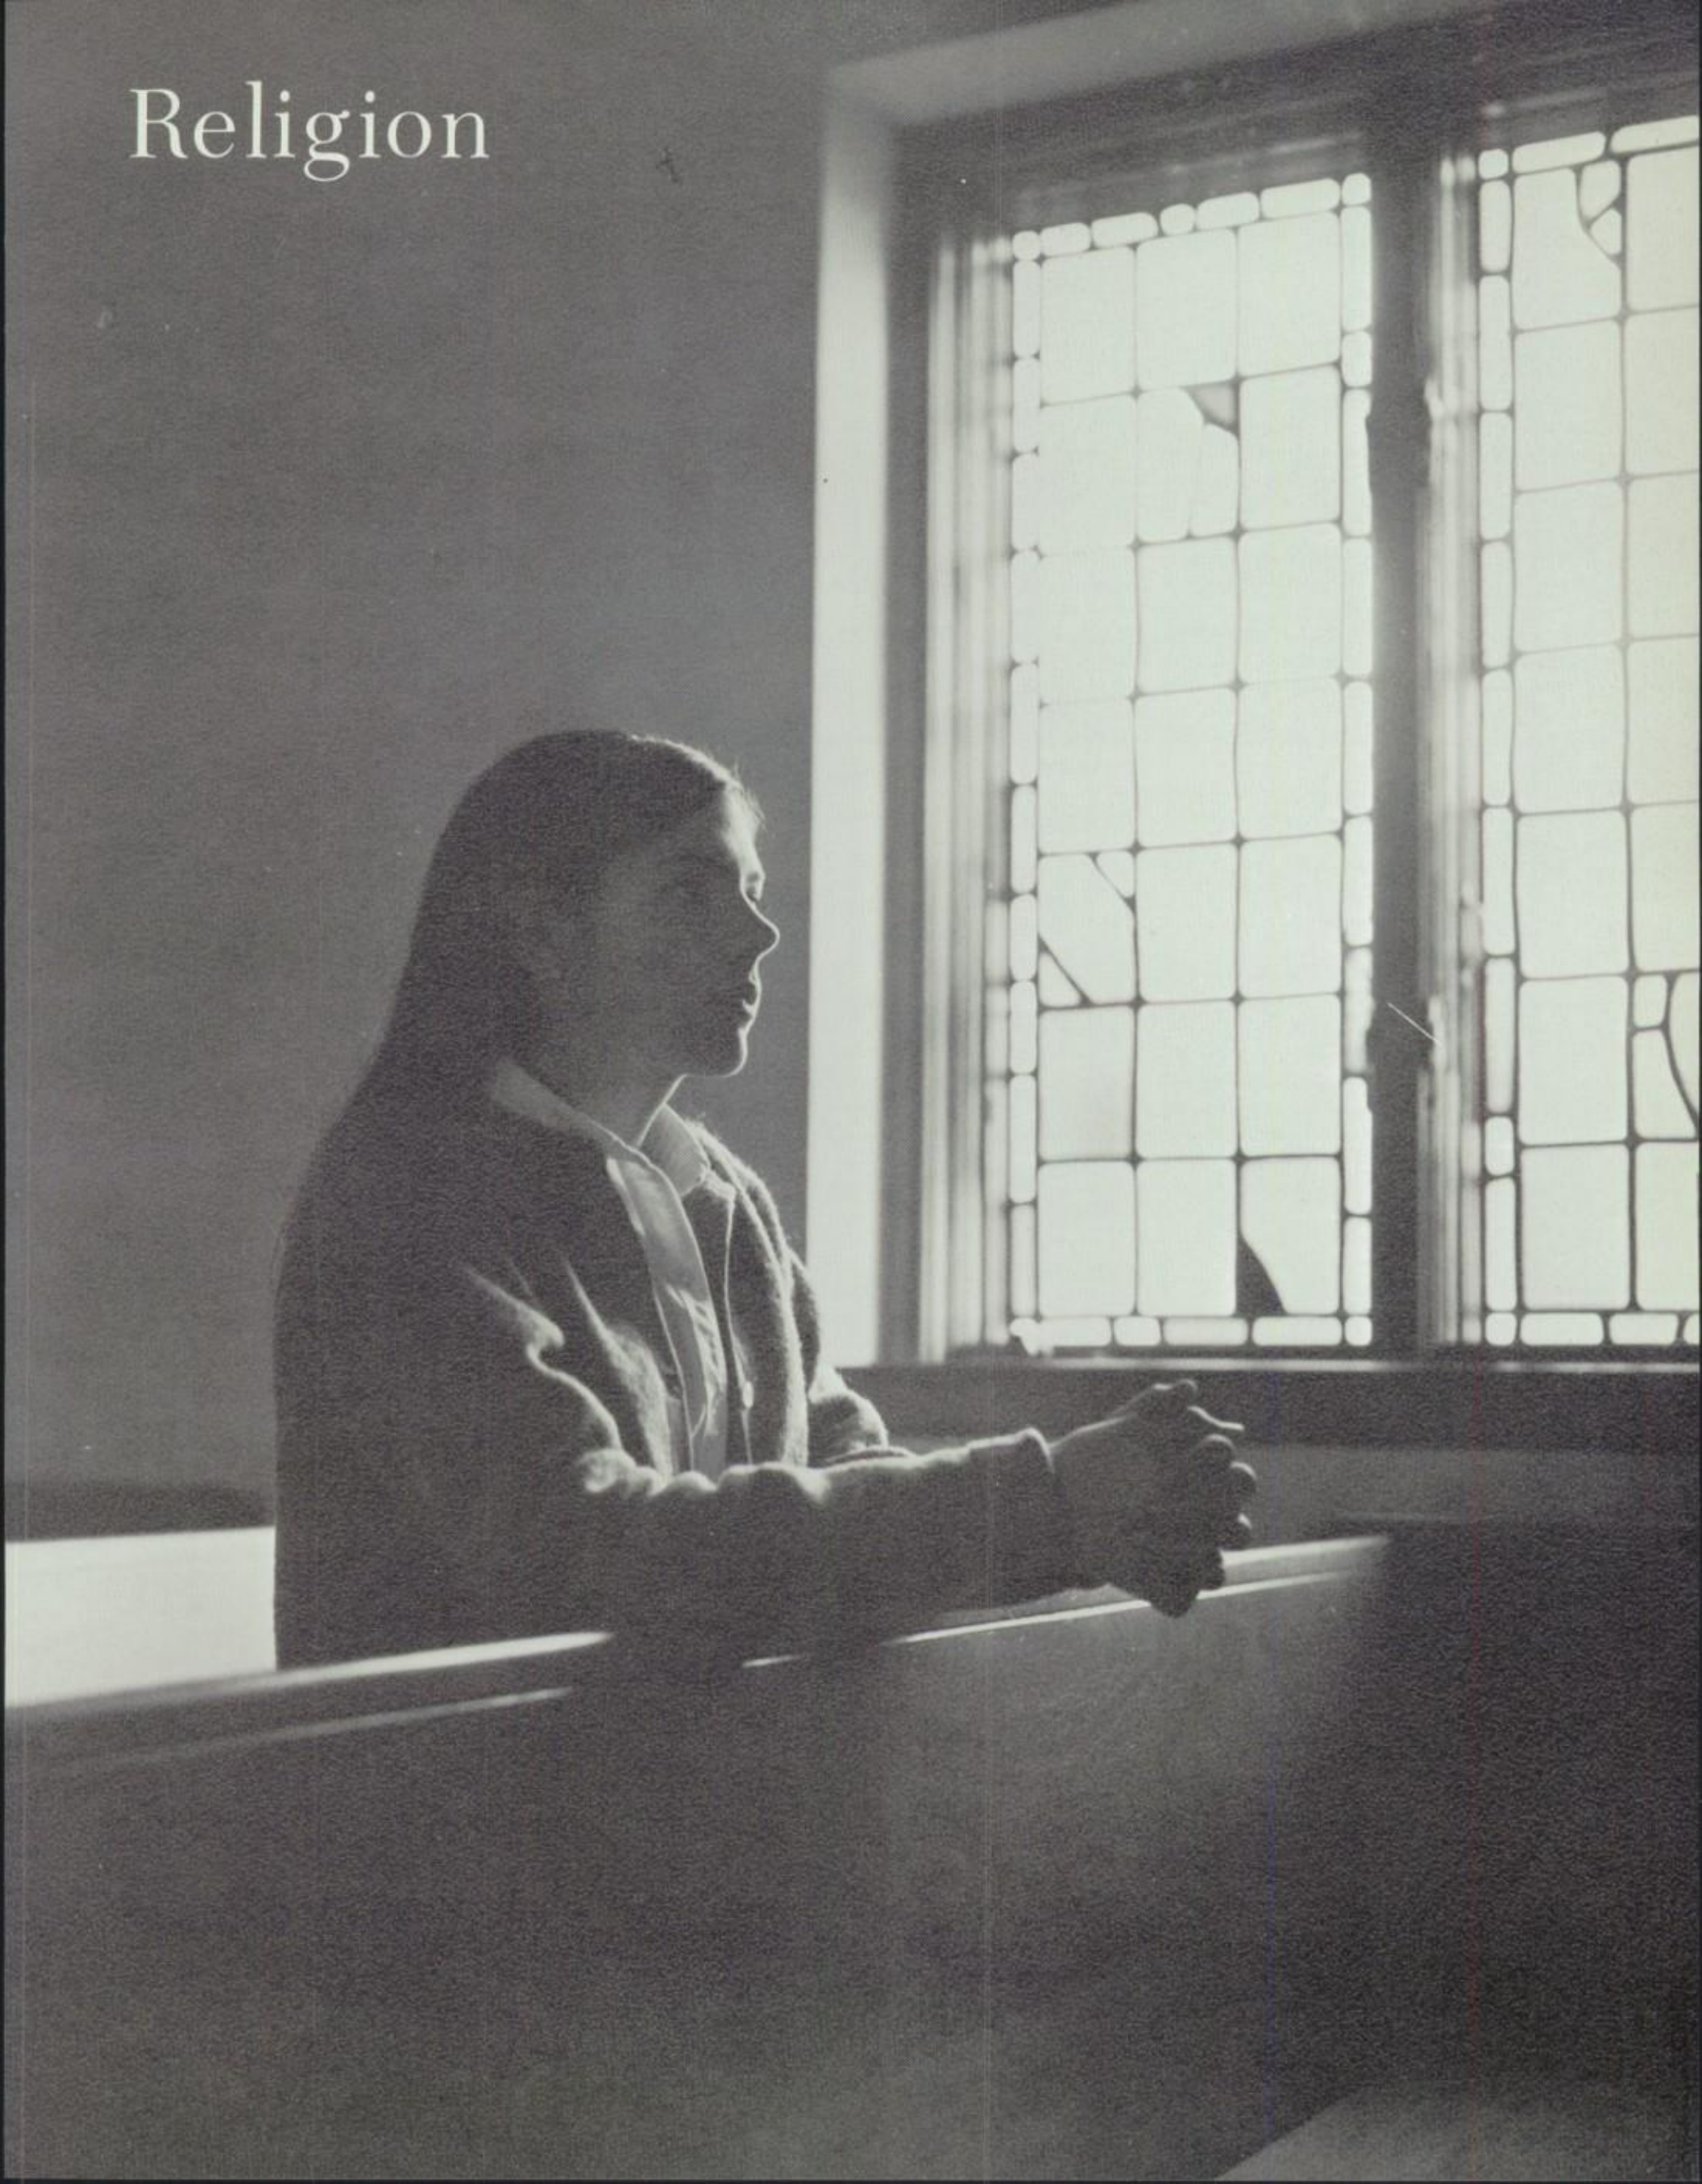

Art

The 1968 school year marked the beginning of a special emphasis on art at Brownell-Talbot. New desks and equipment made it possible for Miss Schmidt to devote more of her time to individual guidance. Upper school students had studio art sessions including various field trips instead of formal classes. Among the many contributions of the Art Department to school life were the programs, posters, and sets for the plays. The most significant step forward this year, however, was the vastly improved quality of the students' work.

Religion

The Girls' Chapel Choir assisted in the worship services each week this year. In addition to their regular participation, this select group of voices sang special anthems for Communion. The choir was directed enthusiastically by Mrs. Gloria Dunbar.

Chapel Choirs

The Boys' Chapel Choir alternated with the girls' in leading the singing of the congregation. Composed of the best voices of the Boys' Choir, it improved steadily throughout the year. Accompaniment for the Chapel Choirs was provided by Mr. Cecil Neubecker. In addition to being the organist at All Saint's Church, Mr. Neubecker played for all services in St. Matthias Chapel.

Service League

Brownell-Talbot has long provided noteworthy service for the community which surrounds it. The Service League, now composed of both boys and girls, is a volunteer organization which performs many such services. Lee Webster, the president, and April Kirkpatrick, the vice-president, arranged for students to usher at the Clarkson Style Show and to work at both the St. James and Creche homes for children. Every participant in these activities benefited greatly from the experience of helping others.

Altar Guild

During the first semester, the Altar Guild was re-organized in order to improve the girls' training. Teams were formed containing new members as well as experienced upperclassmen. As the girls achieved proficiency in the many duties involved in preparing Chapel services, they attained higher status in the Guild. Dennie Deuser served as this year's directress, and Mrs. Joan Zandbergen was the Guild Advisor.

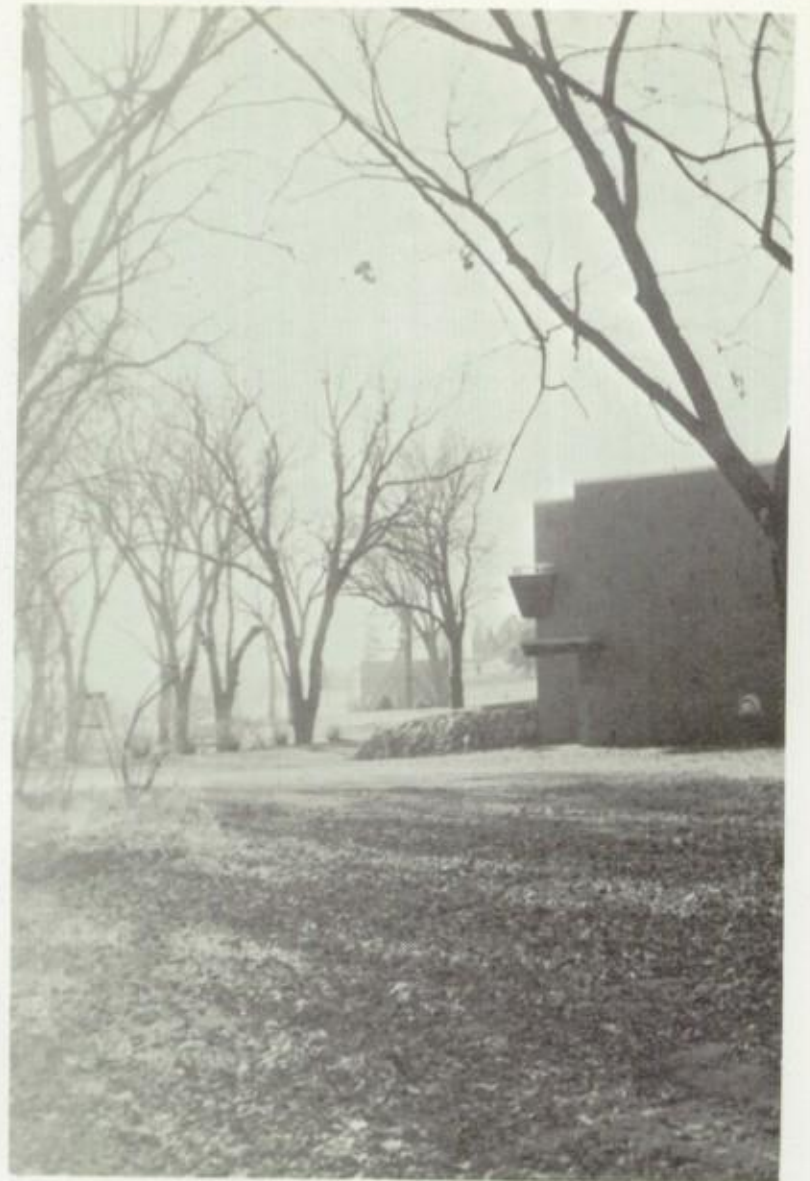

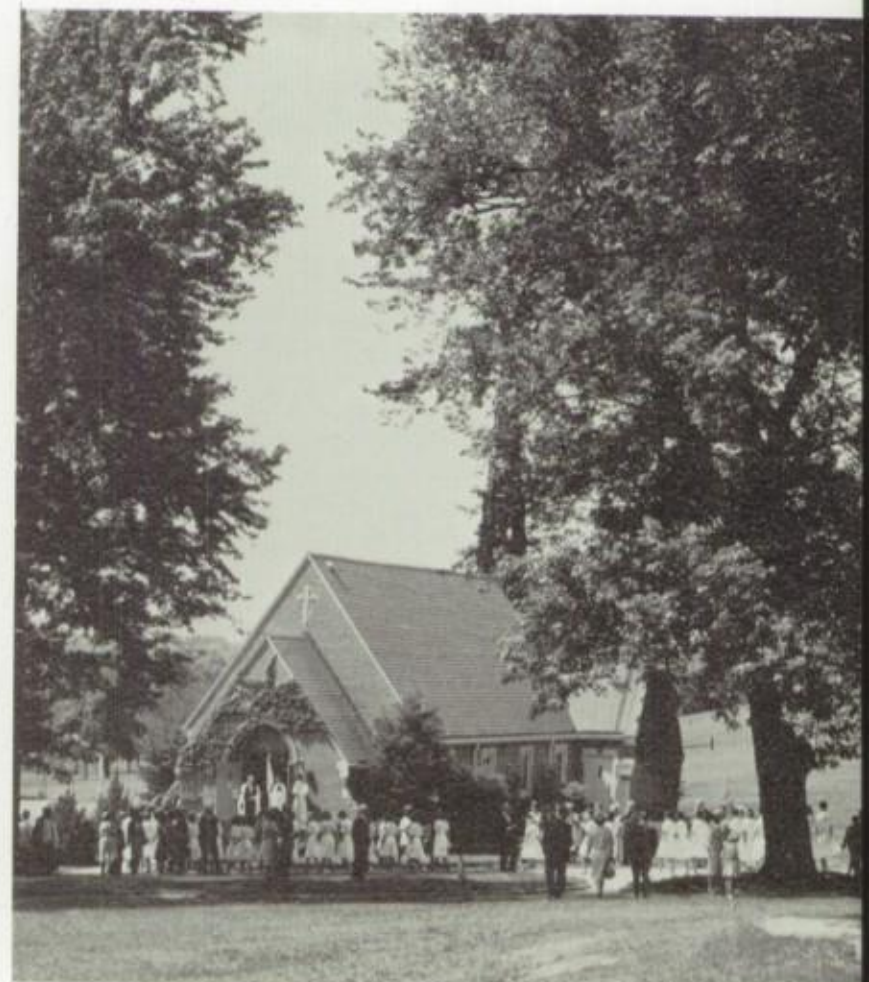

Acolyte Guild

The thirty-member Acolyte Guild, under Father Borg's direction, was put on a seniority basis this year. A program of rank was initiated with four levels of proficiency, the biggest of which was that of the Permanent Member. The program was designed to give members new opportunities to expand their contributions to our chapel. The guild not only performed its regular duties, but accepted the responsibility of establishing good behavior at services.

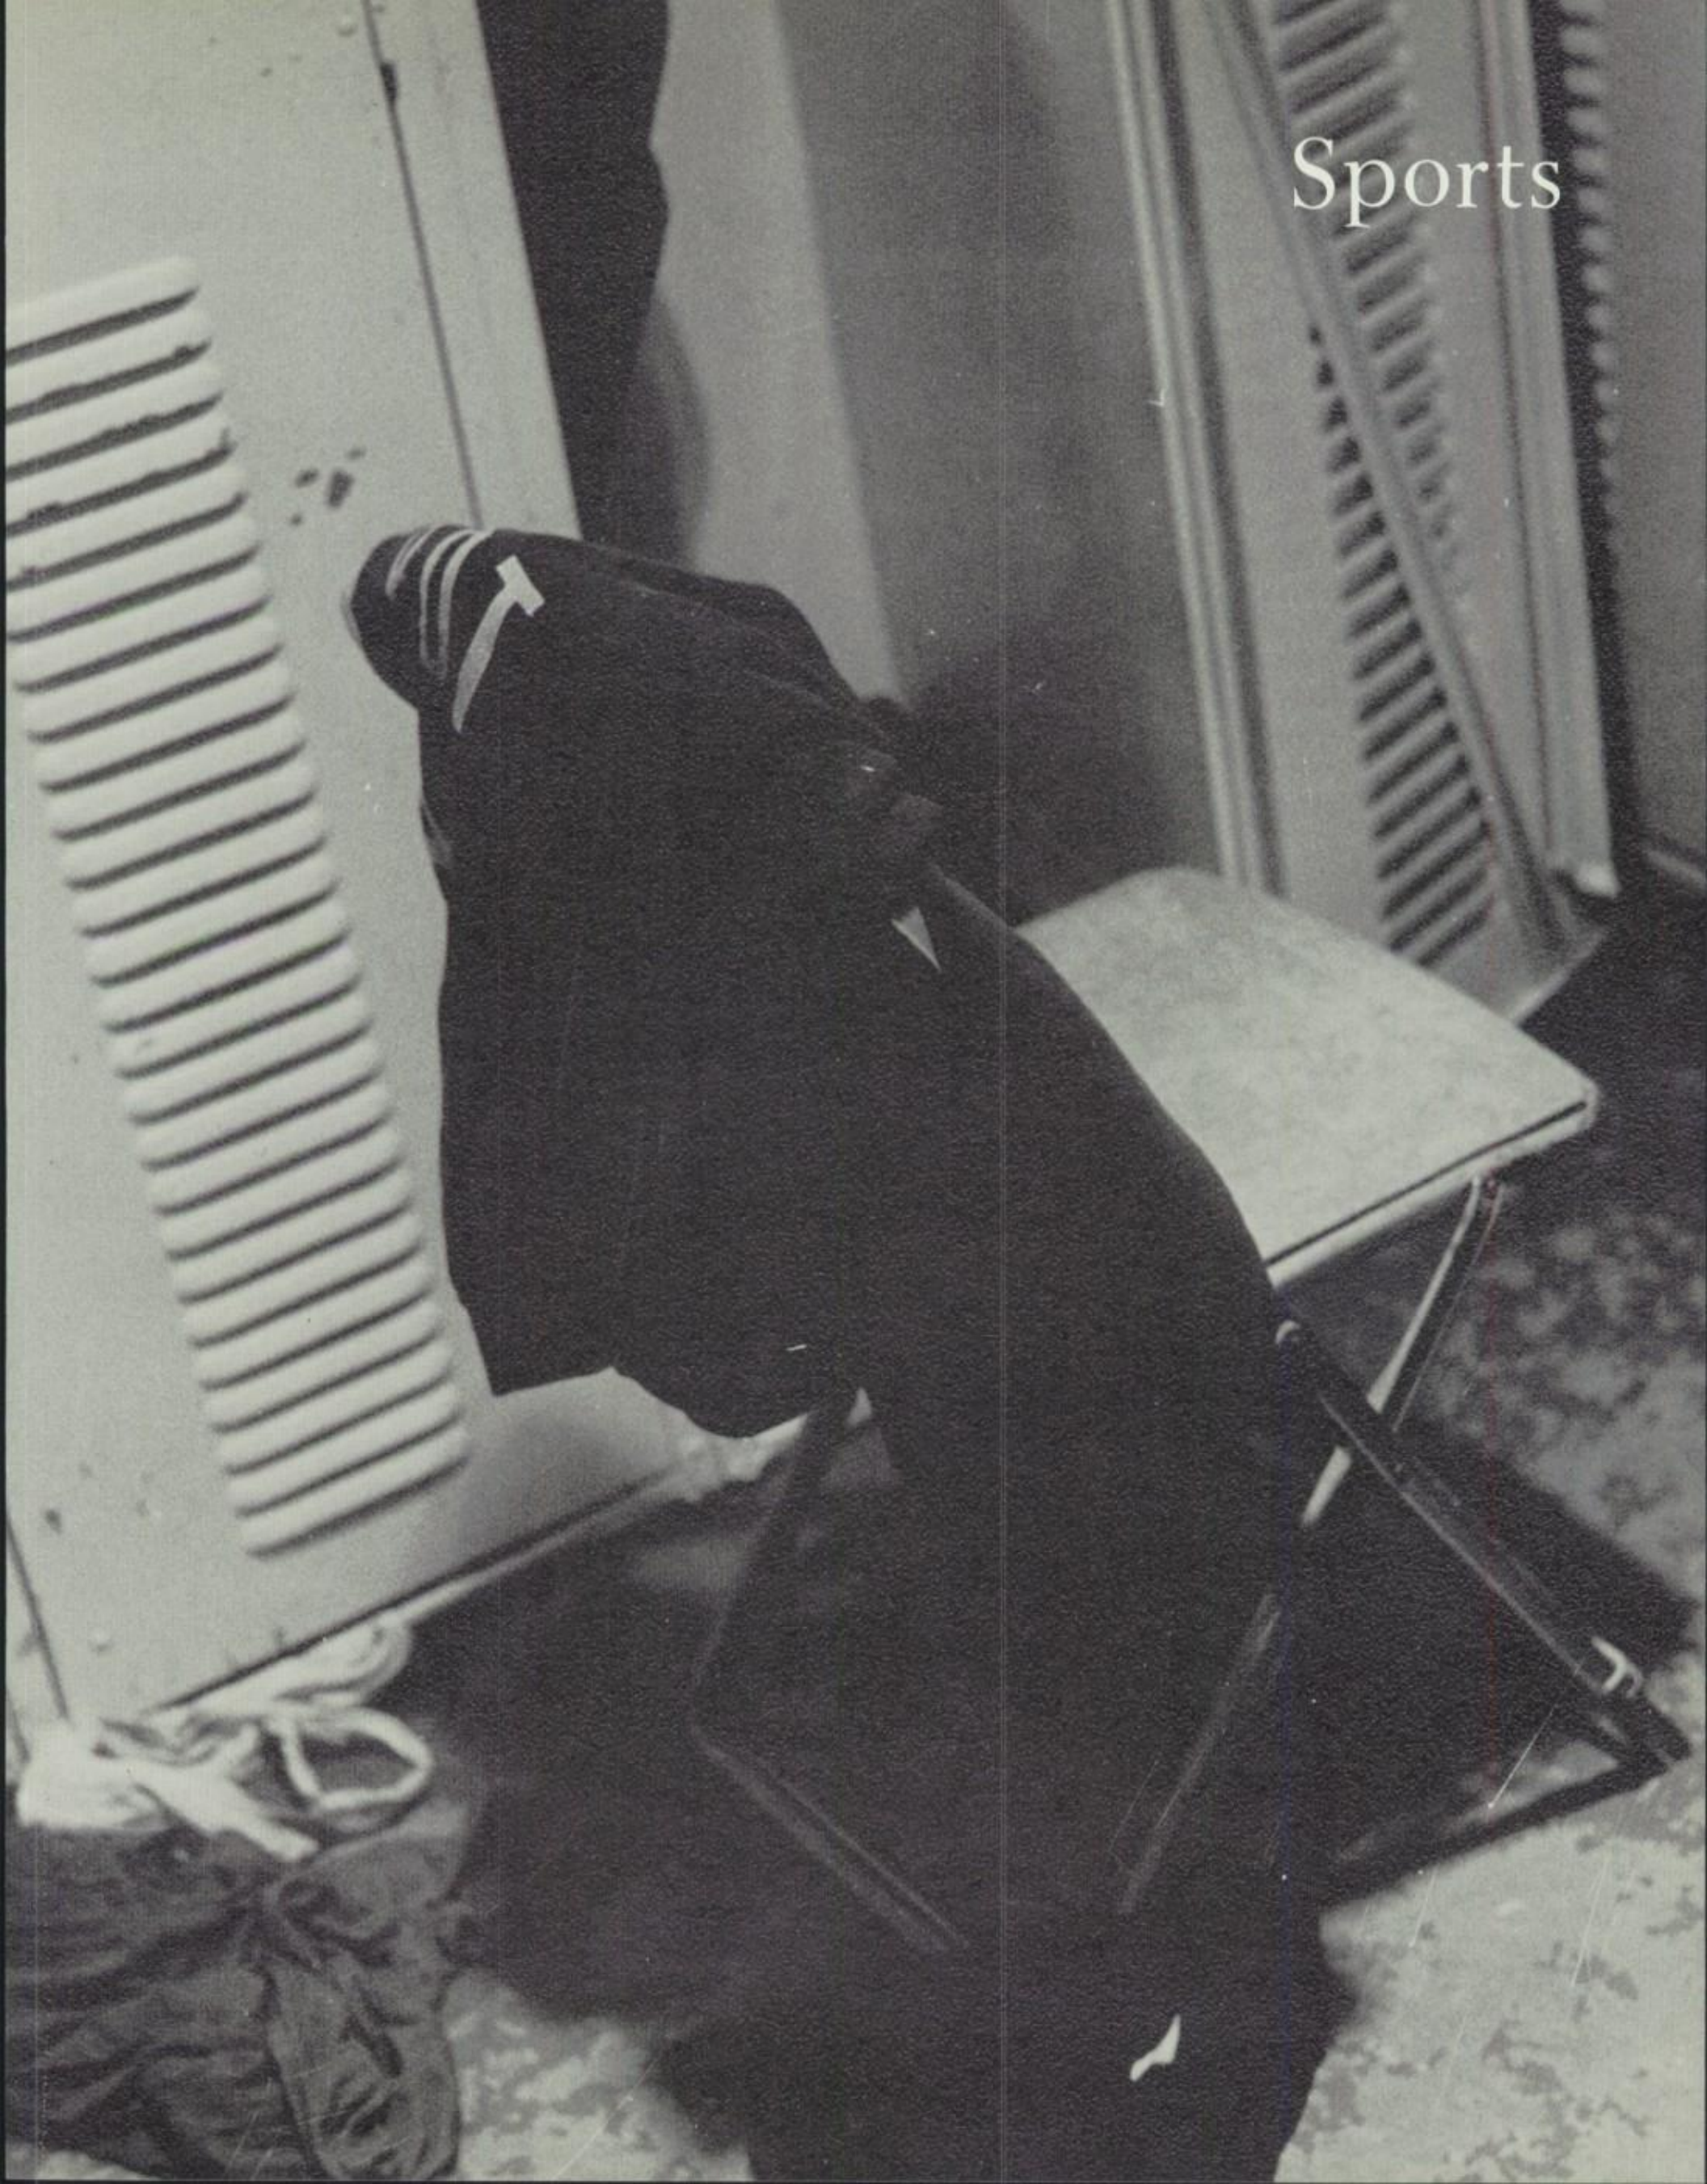

St. Matthias Chapel

Sports

Football

For the first time since the inception of the football program three years ago, Talbot finished the season with a winning record. Under the coaching of Mr. Bruce McCoy and Mr. Fred Curtis, the Blue Raiders developed an explosive offense and stalwart defense capable of defeating any team in their class. Especially effective was the Raider defense, which gave up less than six points per game for the first five games of the season.

The team gained special recognition this year when one of its members, Mike Covalciuc, was selected for the All-State team. This achievement brought to the attention of many the reality of football at Brownell-Talbot.

The squad will lose its talented senior members next year, but Coach McCoy has many returning lettermen who promise to lead the 1969 Blue Raiders to an even better season. We hope that winning football becomes an established tradition at Brownell-Talbot.

Basketball

Talbot's basketball team completed the most successful season in the school's history with a 9-9 record. In his first season as coach, Mr. William Olson thoroughly revitalized the school's cage program. After opening the season with a six-game winning streak, the team performed less successfully against tougher opposition; but against highly-touted Cedar Bluffs, Talbot displayed the poise that had marked the beginning of the season. The team's final victory of the year came against Weston in the first round of Districts. In their second meeting with Yutan, the Raiders proved an equal match for three quarters but eventually lost the contest. Mike Covalciuc graduated as Talbot's all-time leading scorer with 740 points, and Tracy Brown became all-time leading rebounder with 658 rebounds.

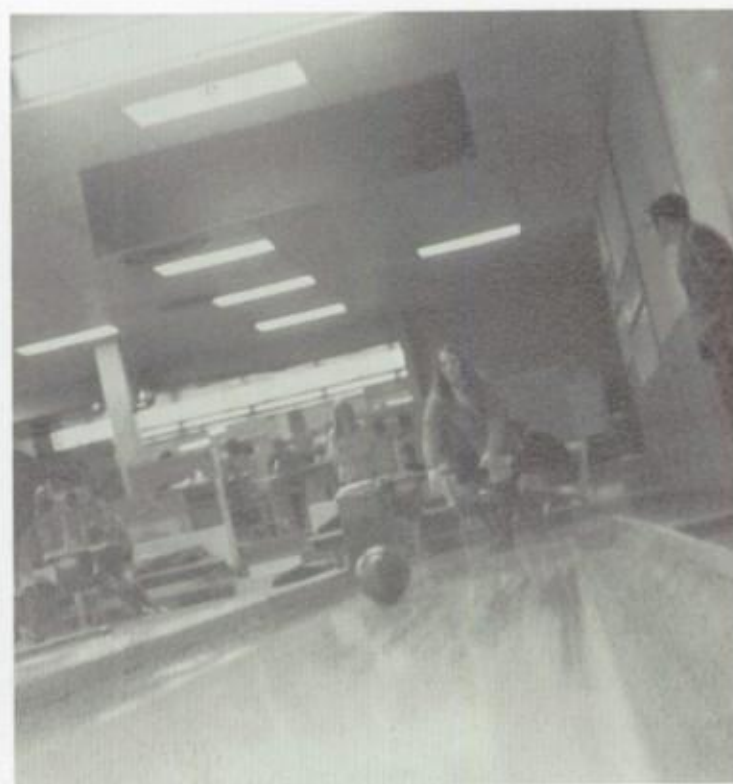

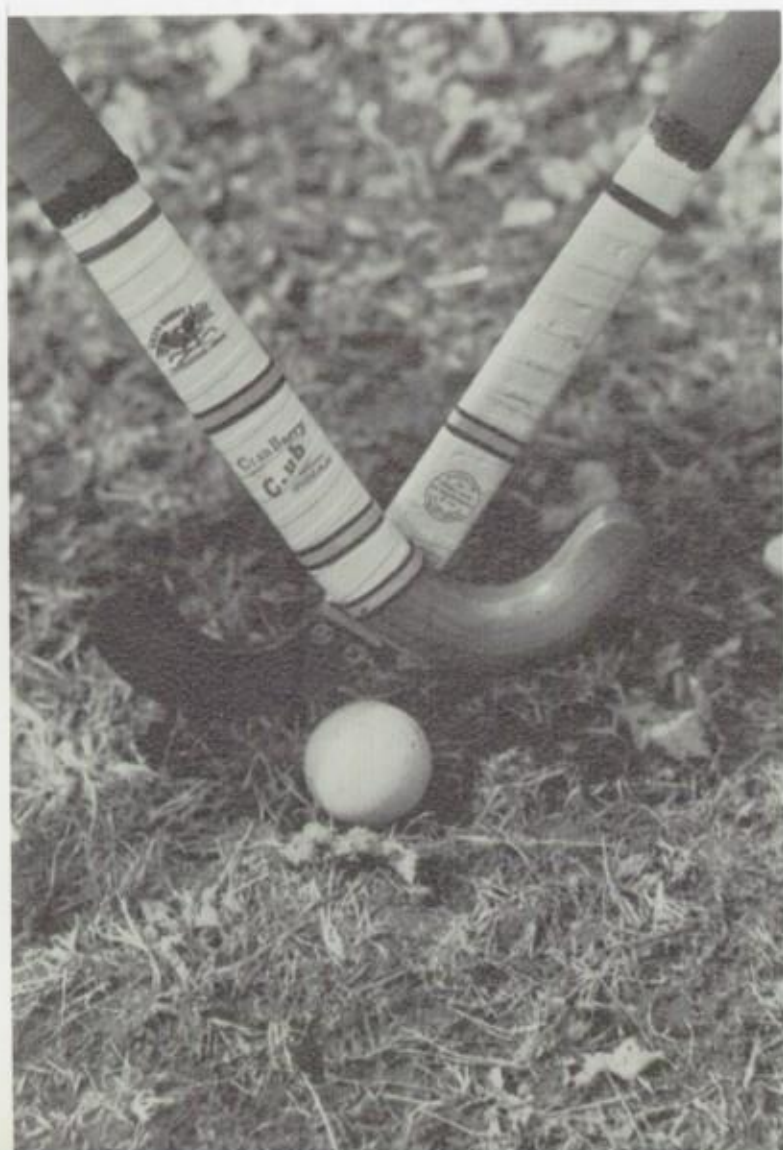

Girls'

Athletics

The girls' athletics program underwent significant changes this year. For each girl in gym class, a special fitness test became mandatory. Modern dance was initiated as a permanent part of the curriculum. And, for the first time, attendance was made voluntary for the Seniors. Hopefully, these changes will make physical education more meaningful, and more fun, for the girls.

As usual, field hockey was the unifying element of the athletics program. Captained by Dennie Deuser, the field hockey team competed against Barstow in Kansas City and Graland in Denver. Although they lost both games, the teams' younger members were given valuable training. In their annual contest, the Varsity overwhelmed the Junior Varsity by an 8-3 score. A week later, the Alumnae and Varsity struggled to a 2-2 tie. Middle-schoolers prepared for varsity play in these games by substituting for upper-school regulars.

Track

Initiated only three years ago, the track team has developed into a versatile and fiercely competitive group. This year's team has successfully met opposition from the best teams in its class. Largely responsible for the team's successes were the training techniques introduced by Bruce McCoy.

Tennis

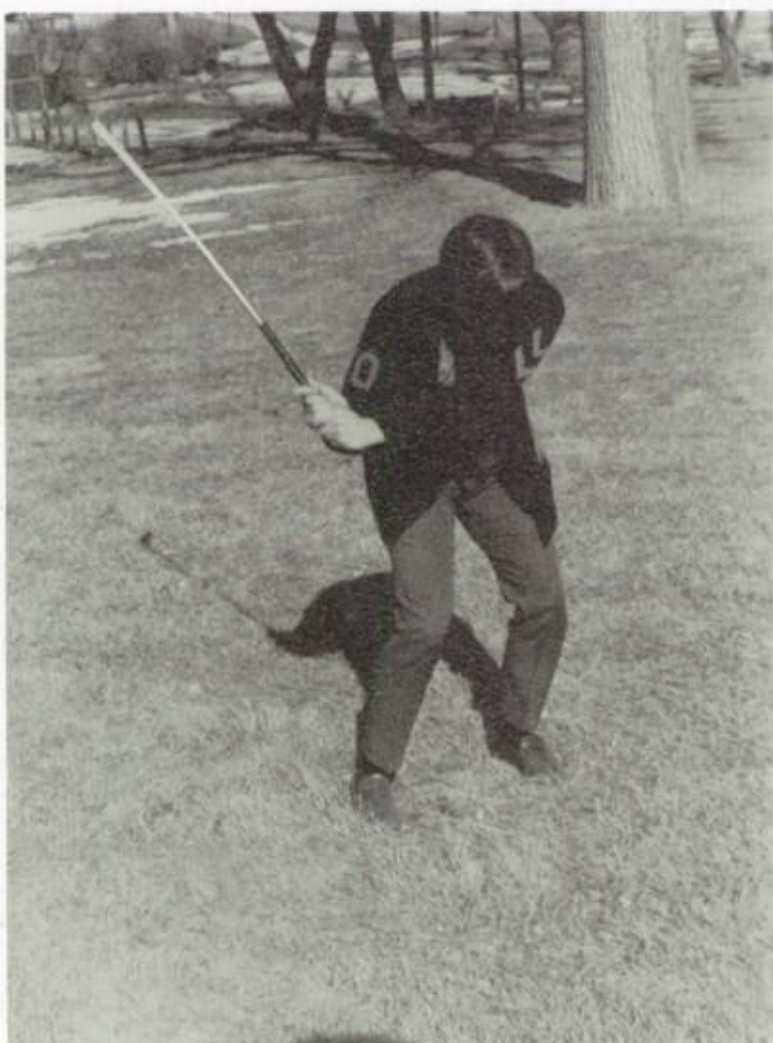

This is the first year in which tennis matches were scheduled during the fall instead of the spring. A conflict developed in that many of our finest tennis players were on the football team. Nonetheless, the team was very successful, compiling a three win, one loss record against schools with Class A standing. In addition, it was the only victorious team from Brownell-Talbot in Denver: our three permanent players--David Brown, Tracy Brown, and David Magiera--each defeated their opponents from Denver Country Day School. Other players, who could not play regularly but contributed towards the winning season, were Mark Ashford, Ted Cleveland, Rick Husband, and Rick Ortega.

Rick Ortega, Tracy Brown, Dave Magiera, and David Brown

Golf

In the spring, golf clubs replace skis and skates for many Brownell-Talbot students. Varsity golf teams were formed by both boys and girls, and the members spent considerable time and effort in diligent practice. Invitations to several area tournaments provided increased incentive for the already enthusiastic golfers.

Ski Club

Skiing at Brownell-Talbot has always been an impressive example of a student-run activity. This year, the Upper School Ski Club was again active testing the slopes of Crescent, Iowa, and Breckenridge, Colorado. Weekly trips to Crescent during the winter months gave this hardy contingent the skill and experience to brave the more difficult Breckenridge hills. Carol Bowie was coordinator for the eight-day Colorado journey.

G.A.A.

Diann Timmerman

Through the years, the importance of the Girls' Athletic Association has increased greatly. By having concession stands at games and making posters for school events, the girls raised money for their treasury and promoted interest in school activities.

Members have shown great enthusiasm for the recently instituted point system. Under this system, girls received credit for their participation in school events, and those with the most points received gifts.

Cheerleaders

The cheerleaders' duties were not limited to the promotion of school spirit at athletic events. At out-of-town games in particular, the girls served as the most important representatives of our school. Dennie Deuser, with four years' experience, led Kathy Becker, Lee Webster, Hildie Hawkins, Cathy McEachen, and reserve Terri Deuser in a very successful year for the squad.

Lee Webster, Terri Deuser, Dennie Deuser, Hildie Hawkins, Cathy McEachen

T-Club

In order to become a T-Club member, one must hold a letter in at least one Varsity sport and undergo the rigors of initiation. This year, the ingenious methods devised by entrenched members made initiation a memorable experience. Regular business was conducted during weekly meetings led by President Jesse Minor and Sponsor Bruce McCoy.
